Community Outreach Internship

DeIPL, a state affiliate of the national IPL organization, was formed as a religious response to climate change. It actively engages faith communities, as Stewards of Creation, in the adoption and promotion of energy efficiency, energy conservation and renewable energy strategies. Engagement goes beyond the walls of the houses of worship into neighborhoods they serve, translating into money savings, green job creation and healthier environments.

DeIPL is seeking part-time Community Outreach Interns for flexible periods of time throughout 2019. The Community Outreach Intern will communicate with DeIPL members, supporters and community partners; assist with organizing educational forums and community events; and coordinate efforts with the Communications intern. Focus will be directed at our Windows of Hope program and a newly launched initiative, Climate Conversations, with special outreach targeted at youth. Specific projects might include:

- Planning, participation and evaluation of Climate Conversations activities.
- Planning, participation and evaluation of Windows of Hope outreach efforts.
- Planning and participation in resource development and outreach efforts to DeIPL membership and supporters.
- Design and installation of Earth Care displays.
- Research on climate related resources and policies.

Desired Qualifications:

- Strong written and oral communication skills.
- Familiarity with Word, Excel & Powerpoint.
- Strong research skills.
- Mastery of the most common social media tools and basic understanding of social media marketing and promotional strategies.
- Event planning skills preferred.
- Familiarity with common ecological/climate change/environmental justice issues.
- Photography and video skills a plus.
- Basic understanding of the organization's mission.

Hours:

A flexible schedule of 5-10 hours per week, to be arranged by the intern and the Executive Director. Most of the work and communications will be done virtually and independently. Twice monthly meetings, at a minimum, will be scheduled with the Executive Director at a convenient location.
